The diagram illustrates a dependency structure where three source files include a common header file. On the left is a black box labeled 'coin_common.h'. To its right are three white boxes: 'Classes.c' at the top, 'Helpers.c' in the middle, and 'LinearStatistic.c' at the bottom. Blue arrows point from each of these three boxes towards the 'coin_common.h' box, indicating that each source file includes the common header.
